

LACKAWANNA COUNTY

New Public Safety and Emergency Management Center (9-1-1)

Jessup, Pennsylvania

SGA provided public safety design consulting services along with project planning assistance and design review to Highland Associates for this project – a new County Public Safety Center including a 28,700 SF 9-1-1 Emergency Management Center. The facility houses command centers, administration and staff support areas, a public lobby and a conference center. This project provides state-of-the-art telecommunications and technology equipment, as well as a 250 foot communications tower on a 7-acre site, which additionally includes a new 6-bay garage for emergency vehicles.

Estimated completion 2007
