

DELAWARE AIR NATIONAL GUARD

New Squadron Operations and Aeromedical Evacuation Facility

New Castle County, Delaware

This project involves the design of a 28,000 SF facility providing the Delaware Air National Guard with squadron operations office space and an emergency communications vault, as well as training and storage facilities. Unique in that the form pushes the limits of traditional military facility design and hints at its function by striving to express the symbology of flight, the building sits at the end of the runway at the New Castle County Airport and provides framed views of the aircraft occupying the tarmac directly adjacent.

Construction complete 2001
